

CLEAN DEVELOPMENT MECHANISM FACILITY

Clear Choice, Brighter Future

Clean energy production and a healthy environment. The Asian Development Bank (ADB) believes these are integral to sustainable development.

For several years now, ADB has been actively promoting clean energy and greenhouse gas mitigation initiatives.

Launched in August 2003, the Clean Development Mechanism Facility has been assisting ADB's developing member countries to identify projects and process CDM requirements.

Bridging the gap between buyers and sellers. Ensuring a fair return to developing countries for greenhouse gas abatement initiatives. And assisting developed countries in meeting commitments under the Kyoto Protocol.

The CDM Facility: A win-win strategy for sustainable development.
