

Water is the connection

Kemira

Life on earth is dependent on sustainable use of water, energy and other natural resources. We at Kemira are focused on helping our customers optimize the amount of water and energy used in their water-intensive processes and improve the quality of their end products. With our innovative chemistry and process know-how, our customers will increase production efficiency and reduce impacts on the environment.

Built on our heritage, we treat our customers, environment and each other with respect, honesty and integrity.
